BIO

Izolda Trakhtenberg believes innovation isn't just about the latest fad, it's about creative thinking and intuitive, insightful action. This refreshing approach has made her a sought-after speaker, educator, and coach for creatives and business leaders.

For years, Izolda traveled the world as a NASA Master Trainer transforming people's perspectives on planet Earth. She's released five books on communication, collaboration, and self-improvement. Nowadays you'll find her speaking at conferences, looking for the next great ocean beach, or singing for hundreds of people — all while interviewing peak performers on creative leadership, ethical innovation, and intuitive mindfulness on her hit show, The Creative Solutions Podcast.
